Preamble

Wascana Energy Inc., a Regina-based oil and gas company, wishes to contribute to the research and teaching of Petroleum Engineering at the University of Regina. The University and Wascana believe this contribution could be best accomplished by establishing a Research Chair at the U of R with a focus on heavy oil recovery processes.

Wascana agrees to the following:

- a) A donation of $1,000,000 for the creation of a trust fund to support the Chair.
- b) Working with U of R to help secure additional funds.
- c) Continued support for the joint SRC-U of R Petroleum Technology Centre (Research Centre).
- d) Continued support to U of R for development of a Petroleum Engineering degree program.
- e) Participation in a steering committee for R & D activities of the Chair.
- f) Participation (if appropriate) in a steering advisory board for the Research Centre.

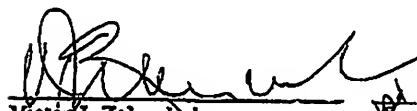

In support of Wascana's donation, the University agrees to the following:

- a) With the SRC, help set up a Petroleum Technology Centre (Research Centre) for petroleum recovery from Saskatchewan reservoirs.
- b) The monies will be earmarked for petroleum engineering and, if possible, linked to the Petroleum Technology Centre activities.
- c) Set up a Research Chair for Petroleum Engineering with a focus on heavy oil recovery from Saskatchewan reservoirs.
- d) Seek other funds, with a target of at least $200,000/year for the Chair and its support activities.
- e) Increase or reallocate staff to make a U of R Petroleum Engineering degree viable and to help attain a critical mass of researchers for the Petroleum Technology Centre.
- f) Provide lab space and infrastructure support for the Chair.
